

Dear Friends,

As I had written to you earlier that the worst is behind us as part of our continuous endeavor to improve things and facilities at Lotus Panache, I am delighted to share with you that the Ganga water is now connected to our Lotus Panache Project and is available as I write this. We are in the process to integrate it with in the system.

One thing I would like to strongly say here that a barrel of water is more precious than a barrel of oil so we should all make a very strong conscious effort to save every drop.

Thank you for your patience and understanding.

Regards,

VB
